

CONTINENCE AND CATHETER CARE COMPETENCY

COURSE DETAILS

This course is ideal for those working in the care sector with service users who require catheters and ensures that delegates understand what catheterisation is and the risks involved with it. Delegates will gain an insight into types of catheters and why they are necessary as well as types of incontinence and how they are caused and importantly, how to care for someone with a urethral catheter.

Outline of Programme

1. What is catheterisation?
2. The purpose of urethral catheterisation.
3. Causes and types of urine incontinence.
4. Caring for a patient or service user with a urethral catheter.
5. Types of catheters.
6. Complications of a catheter
7. Managing common catheter problems
8. Infection prevention
9. Documentation, Reporting and Record Keeping

Assessment

Catheter care awareness training takes around 3 hours and delegates will be expected to engage in a practical session. Our experienced trainers will be on hand to help guide delegates through the session and a certificate will be awarded upon participation and successful completion of the course.
